JUSTICE WESTFALL STILL SICK

He Could Not Testify About the Files in the Case-Talk of Settlement Made Clearer -- Court News

Most of the morning yesterday was reading testimony in the McKee rape W. F. McKnight, Frank Mc-Knight and Miss Jennie Patton were questioned, but Justice Westfall, who was to have testified regarding the files which it is claimed S. D. Clay tried to shuffle last Friday, was too sick to be present. Frank McKnight was questioned closely regarding which case he tried to settle. Mr. McKnight swore that he never talked with Miss Patton about settling the rape case. This was in flat contradiction to Miss Patton's testimony, who swore that Frank Mc Knight came to the home and tried to see Lottie Handley and effect a settle-

W. F. McKnight, expresecuting at torney, swore that a warrant was issued for McKee for bastardy, and that Lettie Handley a friends made offers of settle-ment, and that Lettie agreed to settle, but she wished to get $100 more than McKee would offer. He did not under stand that McKee's friends admitted any liability, but rather than have the matter made public they offered Lottle $20 or $400. He never heard any talk about settling the rape case. He said McKes left the city the day before the warrant for cape was assied. That warrant was issued so that McKee could be extradited from any other state. The bustardy warrant would not allow the state to extradite a prisoner from another state. Charlotte Handley was recalled in the afternoon and swore that she never authorized any one to settle the case for her. She left the Woman's home and hospital in January, 1892. She went to live with Mrs. Ed Went at that time. Mot Mrs. Wont first at Mrs. Sawtolle's, It was then that she got acquainted with Mrs. Went. The matron of the home made no objection to her going. The matron was fractely to her and they never had any trouble. She went to the home January & and left for Mrs. Went's in April. She made the complaint for

Captain Went's house. She denied flatly the testimony of Mabel Reynolds to the effect that they showed each other money which they re-ceived from Mckee and his friend the night the crime is alleged to have been
